

Emilio Vedovato (Trebaseleghe, 1955) is a freelance professional listed in the Order of Accountants of Padua and the Register of Auditors at the Ministry of Justice. He is the founder of Studio Vedovato-Basile e Associati, selected MF 2020, and a founding member of the Scudra network, which brings together professionals in different areas of expertise based in the provinces of Treviso, Venice and Vicenza.

He has a particular interest in company governance issues and the responsibility of administrators, which he has explored in specific masters degrees; he is currently involved in assisting companies through generational shift and reorganisation.

He has been a member of the Board of Directors since 2013, and is president of Scarpa's board of Auditors. He has supported the Parisotto family in the new structuring of the group, which included the appointment of Diego Bolzonello as CEO.
